The Brookes and Oxlee families decided to co-invest in Mont-Tremblant, Québec, where they found what they were looking for in Rabaska.

«Buying off plan always presents challenges, as it's not easy to portray the final product and associated amenities with impressions and plans, especially when by the very nature of the procedure, not everything can be confirmed 100% in advance. These challenges are exaggerated when buying abroad with distance, time, procedural and language barriers and communication that rely on emails and phone calls over face-to-face contact.

Given these inherent issues, our dealings with the team at Rabaska have been pleasantly reassuring. They have been courteous, friendly and efficient and battled to answer our hundreds of questions with a smile.

From touring a forest site on a damp April day (and finding that not all 4x4's are as capable off road as others) and choosing our plot from flags in the ground, to actually walking into the property for the first time is a fascinating journey. There was always going to be some trepidation to see whether the final result matched the pre-conceptions. In these circumstances you always expect things to be different to how you imagined them, but for both of us, perhaps the biggest surprise was how close it was to how we had pictured it. The finish quality was excellent and we were genuinely delighted with the unit. This is obviously no accident as we were able to choose the look and feel of the place from the sample boards, but it was great to see it all come together and look so good.

We came to Tremblant once to buy, once mid-build and then again on completion. It was great to see the progress each time. Our visit on completion was a mix of finalising paperwork and sorting out the inevitable minor snags, but allowed plenty of time for some R&R. We were able to spend some time in the spa and at the beach and to get a couple of rounds of golf in. To find that the course we overlook is one of the most beautiful we have ever played was the icing on the cake»
